

BUSINESS

Peak Physical Therapy names new center coordinator of clinical education

Peak Physical Therapy & Sports Performance announces that Rachel Laufer, of Weymouth, has been named the practice's center coordinator of clinical education.

As such, Laufer is responsible for the establishment, coordination and supervision of clinical rotations for Doctor of Physical Therapy students at Sacred Heart University in Fairfield, Connecticut, and the University of Rhode Island in Kingston, Rhode Island, who are fulfilling internships at Peak Physical Therapy & Sports Performance. In addition to communicating with the school's DPT program, Laufer will serve as clinical instructor for two students in 2017.

"It's a pleasure to announce Rachel as our CCCE," said Eric Edelman, owner of Peak Physical Therapy & Sports Performance. "It's a post that requires a high degree of knowledge and responsibility; I can't think of a clinician more capable of performing this vital work."

Peak Physical Therapy & Sports Performance announces that Rachel Laufer, of Weymouth, has been named the practice's center coordinator of clinical education.

[COURTESY PHOTO]

