

Peak Physical Therapy names new physical therapist

Peak Physical Therapy & Sports Performance announced that Sam Kushner, of Boston, has joined the firm as a staff physical therapist in the Hanover location.

Kushner brings experience in orthopedic musculoskeletal injury in both outpatient and inpatient settings to this, his first full-time post as a staff physical therapist, having recently received his Doctorate of Physical Therapy from the University of Rhode Island in Kingston, Rhode Island.

Kushner also holds a Bachelor of Exercise Science degree from URI.

Kushner looks forward to building upon his current knowledge in sports-specific and return-to-sport rehabilitation. He is an avid Boston sports fan, enjoys time spent with friends and family, traveling, exercise and playing basketball.

Kushner

“Sam’s positive energy and enthusiasm for his work is remarkable,” said Eric Edelman, owner of Peak Physical Therapy & Sports Performance. “His focus is steadfast on patient driven goals; we are delighted to have him join our practice.”

