

Peak Physical Therapy Scituate announces new athletic trainer

Peak Physical Therapy & Sports Performance announced that Mackenzie Corrigan, of Plymouth, has joined the practice as an athletic trainer in the Scituate location.

In this role, Corrigan assists patients receiving rehabilitation therapy to help them achieve optimum results. Her qualifications as an athletic trainer are a benefit when supporting patients with their exercise programs.

Corrigan is a recent graduate of Westfield State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in athletic training. She lives in her hometown of Plymouth and in her spare time enjoys traveling, the beach and activities with friends and family.

"We're happy to welcome Mackenzie to the Peak family," said Eric

Mackenzie Corrigan, of Plymouth. [COURTESY PHOTO]

Edelman, owner of Peak Physical Therapy & Sports Performance. "Her commitment to patients and great enthusiasm mesh perfectly with the supportive environment we have created."

