

Peak Physical Therapy names new assistant clinical manager

Peak Physical Therapy & Sports Performance announced the promotion of Ryan Burke, of Quincy, to assistant manager of its Hanover clinic, located at The U of Starland, 645 Washington St.

Burke joined Peak Physical Therapy in early 2016 and has more than five years of experience as a physical therapist.

A graduate of the UMass

Lowell with a Doctorate of Physical Therapy, Burke is certified to perform dry needling, spinal mobilization and manipulation and to administer Functional Movement Systems and Selective Functional Movement Assessment to treat various neuromuscular skeletal conditions. He is a member of the American Physical Therapy Association.

“In the relatively short time, Ryan has been a member of the Peak team he has proven his skill as a therapist and commitment to our industry countlessly,” said Eric Edelman, owner of Peak Physical Therapy & Sports Performance. “It’s a pleasure to announce him as assistant manager of our active Hanover location.”
