Peak Physical Therapy & Wellness Opens Quincy Office January 15th!

On January 15th, 2014 Peak Physical Therapy & Wellness is moving their Randolph office to a new location at 2300 Crown Colony Dr. in Crown Colony Park, Quincy. The reason for the move is the development of a new state-of-the-art facility that will be able to better serve a larger population. Peak Physical Therapy has two other land based clinics in Norwell and Scituate. Additionally, they have 2 aquatic locations at Healthtrax Health Club in Hanover and Scituate Health & Racquet Club in Scituate.

'I couldn't be more pleased opening a clinic again in Quincy. From 2001 thru 2008, I co-partnered 'The Center for Spine Sports & Rehabilitation' in Quincy Center and also ran clinics for Braintree Rehab Hospital in Quincy in the 90's. Coming back to Quincy is exciting and long overdue. I will enjoy rekindling past relationships in the medical field and patients I worked with in the past. I really look forward to servicing such a great community again.' said Eric Edelman, Owner of Peak Physical Therapy & Wellness.

In 2008, Peak Physical Therapy & Wellness opened their first office in Norwell. Presently they serve 21 towns and now with the new move to Quincy they will be serving patients in 24 surrounding towns. Peak is well respected on the South Shore and well known for their experienced, knowledgeable and compassionate staff. They pride themselves on using a hands-on manual therapy based approach combined with modern technology in warm serene clinic atmospheres to help our patients reach their goals.

Many area physicians, school athletic directors and wellness professionals refer to Peak due to their 18 different physical therapy programs and transitional wellness model including massage therapy, Pilates, and personal training to name a few.

'Our Quincy clinic will be no different than our other Peak clinics. The importance of our experienced staff, technology and a serene atmosphere helps our patients feel comfortable while getting better.' Said Eric Edelman.
